
The endorsement process of AFSCME Council 24 is quite simple and is designed for Local Unions to initiate the process and then submit to SEPAC a recommendation for an endorsement of a candidate or no endorsement of a candidate.

Here are some simple steps:

1. Local Union determines whether or not they wish to submit a recommendation of endorsement or no endorsement of specific political candidate(s) to SEPAC.
2. The recommendation is emailed (subject to verification), mailed, faxed or hand delivered to SEPAC under the signature of the local president or the designee of the president. (Local Unions are encouraged to provide a supporting statement along with the recommendation)
3. SEPAC will review the recommendation and then either concur or not concur with the Local Union recommendation and will then advance the committees concurrence or non-concurrence along with the Local Unions written recommendation to the WSEU Executive Board. (The WSEU Executive Board is the final authority in making endorsements.)

Here are some other points of information:

1. SEPAC will consider only recommendations for endorsement or no endorsement of a specific state constitutional office, state judicial office, state assembly and state senate candidate.
 - a. The exception is a member or spouse of a member who is running for a local elected office.
2. SEPAC does not determine amounts of financial contributions if a financial contribution is to be made.
3. If SEPAC does not concur with the recommendation of the Local Union, the Local Union will be notified of this action and provided with the opportunity to appeal to the WSEU Executive Board in writing or in person.
4. The WSEU Executive Board makes the final determination of an endorsement or no endorsement recommendation.
